

SULTAN FEARS FOR MILAN

Believes that Servian Assassins May Attempt to Kill Him on First Opportunity.

HEIR TO THRONE

Boy Is Half Brother of the Late King Alexander-- Is in Constantinople.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) Constantinople, June 17.—It is announced here in diplomatic circles that the sultan has sent a personal warning to Milan, the young son of the late King Alexander, to watch against assassins who are in the city to kill him.

Fears a Plot. The sultan evidently fears that Servian enthusiasts will attempt to do away with the young Milan, so that no opposition can ever rise to the heirs of King Peter Karageorgevitch, just chosen king.

Closely Guarded. After the action of the Servian council in choosing Peter as king, the young Milan and his mother have given up all hopes of the throne and have remained quietly in their home in this city.

BIG DEFICIT IN FRENCH BUDGET

Finance Minister Estimates Shortage of $11,620,000 and Proposes Change of Tax.

Paris, June 17.—Finance Minister Rouvier presented the budget for 1904 in the chamber of deputies today and also a project for an income tax. The budget estimates the expenditure at $714,360,000 and the receipts at $702,740,000. In order to provide for the deficit, $11,620,000, the yield of certain taxes will be augmented.

The minister rejects the issuance of bonds or the imposition of new taxation and proposes to raise a considerable portion of the deficit by denouncing the reciprocity treaty with Brazil, thus permitting the restoration of the duties on Brazilian coffee. This and certain fiscal expedients will balance the budget.

The proposed income tax is a reform in the system of direct taxation, with the view of throwing more of the burden on the wealthy classes. Incomes under $100 are not taxed. Above $100 the tax is 1 1/2 per cent, but a proportion of the income is exempted on a graduated scale, falling from 5 per cent on incomes under $200 to 10 per cent on incomes under $4,000. Above $4,000 the exemption ceases, the whole income paying the tax. Another feature of the income tax is a tax of 4 per cent on rent, the chief portion of the burden falling on the larger rents.

NEW ENGLANDERS KISS FAMOUS LIBERTY BELL

Hundreds Pay Patriotic Homage to the Relic That Sounded Freedom for the Nation.

Boston, Mass., June 17.—The famous Liberty bell, under escort of Mayor Weaver and a committee of the Philadelphia city government, arrived on a special train. All day on its journey from New Haven crowds gathered at the stopping places and thousands paid homage to the revolutionary relic. At Hartford there was a turnout of 20,000, at Willimantic 5,000 and at Providence 20,000. Hundreds of men, women and children kissed the relic, while school children sang patriotic songs and bands played inspiring tunes.

The old bell will be the feature of the Bunker Hill day parade and will be escorted about the city by the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company. Later it will be placed on exhibition on Boston common.

FIGHT AN ESCAPED CONVICT

Chief of Police of Neenah, Wis., and His Aid Nearly Drown.

Neenah, Wis., June 17.—Joseph Barber, reputed to be an escaped convict from the Iowa state prison, was arrested here after a struggle in which Chief of Police James Brown, Andrew McCabe, an Oshkosh detective, and Barber nearly lost their lives. In attempting to take Barber from a houseboat on which he was living the officers were pulled into Lake Winnebago and it was only after a desperate struggle that they were able to overcome Barber and place him in a naphtha launch. Barber is wanted in Oshkosh on a charge of larceny.

Gospel Unknown to Millions.

It is stated that out of 200,000,000 people in Africa only 2,000,000 have ever heard the gospel. In the Sudan region alone there are 90,000,000 who are without religious instruction.

JEWS BLAMED FOR THE MASSACRE

Father John of Cronstadt Comes with An Article Saying Christians Were Goaded On.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—Father John of Cronstadt, whose fiery condemnation of the Kishineff massacre was published in the St. Petersburg liberal newspapers, has another article in the anti-Semitic Quamla, in which he says: "I have concluded that the Jews themselves were the cause of the recent disorders, and that it was the Christians who suffered in the end. I am convinced now that the Christians were provoked to the disorders by the Jews, and that the Jews were mainly responsible for the catastrophe."

Prince Urosoff, hitherto lieutenant governor of the government of Tarnobol, has been appointed provisional governor of Bessarabia, in succession to Gov. von Raaben, who was dismissed as a result of the Kishineff massacre.

VICTIMS OF FLOODS LOSE THEIR REASON

Insanity Develops Among the Poor People of Armourdale, Kas., Who Have Lost Their All.

Omaha, Neb., June 17.—Rev. W. H. Layton, pastor of the Central Methodist church at Kansas City, Kas., was in Omaha soliciting funds for the people of that city and Armourdale who lost their homes in the recent flood. Mr. Layton says the conditions in the flood-stricken cities are infinitely worse than the outside world has been led to believe from press reports.

"To understand the awful conditions in the flooded regions the outside world should know," he says, "that they are driving many of the poor people there insane. The day I left home I saw two policemen catch a haggard-faced woman who was a raving maniac. Personally, I know of a dozen cases of this kind in Armourdale alone and doubtless there are many more."

"Only a few people have gone back to their homes. Practically every house in Armourdale, a city that once had 16,000 hard-working people, is ruined. Houses are collapsing every day. It is safe to estimate that at least 200 people were drowned. More than 1,000 small houses were washed down the river and more than 3,000 were moved from their foundations."

COOKS HAVE ANOTHER PLAN

Will Offer Chicago Hotel Men Certain Propositions Which If Refused Mean Trouble.

GENERAL STRIKE

All Allied Unions Will Be Called to Walk Out to Help Fight.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) Chicago, June 17.—The striking cooks and waiters will offer the hotel men another proposition this afternoon and if it is refused will ask the allied unions to declare a general strike and close the hotels if possible.

Ask for Aid. The elevator men, the janitors, the teamsters who deliver supplies, the firemen and the engineers will all be asked to aid in bringing the proprietors to terms by walking out.

All Is Quiet. There is no change in the situation and the hotel managements are not liable to take any notice of the proposition made unless it pleases them, as they now have help enough to run their business with.

QUICK LUNCH IS A HIT IN LONDON

American System of Rapid Service a Revelation to the Englishman.

London, June 17.—London's first quick lunch restaurant was opened for business on the Strand yesterday. Despite the solemn warnings of the Lancet against these places and a terrible downpour of rain, there was a great rush of curious cockneys for whom buckwheat cakes with maple sugar, griddle cakes, etc., present an absolute novelty. The services of the police had to be enlisted to control the crowd, and a rush continued throughout the day.

DOG SAVES HIS MASTER'S LIFE

Comes Valiantly to the Rescue in Fight With a Bull.

Waukesha, Wis., June 17.—The assistance of his Scotch collie dog saved Frederick Williams, a farmer, from being killed by an enraged bull. While he was crossing a field Williams was attacked by the animal, which fortunately had been deborned, but which was making short work of him until his collie interfered and made such a fight, that, injured as he was, Williams was able to climb a tree. The dog kept the bull busy for several hours, but could not drive it away from the tree, where the farmer remained until his hired man, returning from town, found him. Three of Williams' ribs and one arm were broken.

STATE ACTS IN RAILROAD CASE

State's Attorney Asks Nonsuit Against Michigan Central.

Detroit, Mich., June 17.—Attorney General Blair entered a motion in the Wayne Circuit court that the Michigan Central railroad be nonsuited in its case against the state for $6,000,000 damages, because of the repeal of the road's special charter, or that an order be made fixing an early date on which the railroad shall file a bill of particulars in support of its claim. The attorney general set forth in his motion that the state made its formal petition for a bill of particulars on Feb. 28 last, and that the desired information had not been furnished.

CO-EDS PARADE IN SHEETS

Join Male Students at Butler University in Nocturnal Frolic.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17.—Irvington, the classic suburb of Indianapolis, was the scene of riotous conduct Monday night, when nearly 200 students of Butler university, headed by a band, paraded the streets in nightshirts. The residents were greatly shocked when a crowd of "co-eds" left the dormitory arrayed in sheets and joined in the fun. President Butler intimated that there would be something doing in the way of an investigation.

BRIDGE FALLS AT EAU CLAIRE

Structure Collapses Under Weight of Sight-Seeing Multitude.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 17.—A long section of the Madison street bridge approach went down under the weight of between 150 and 200 people. Six persons were seriously, probably fatally, injured. Twenty-five or thirty others were less seriously injured. The accident occurred during an illumination of the street carnival booths along the main streets of the city. Hundreds of people had chosen the bridge as a vantage point to watch the illumination.

BAD BLOOD IN FEUD TRIAL

Judge French Calls the County Attorney a Liar In a Very Heated Dispute.

SHERIFF AT HAND

Separates the Two Men Before Any Damage Is Done By Either Party.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) Jackson, Ky., June 17.—While the arguments in the Jett-White trial were in progress this morning, Judge French, lawyer for the defense, and County Attorney Blanton had a quarrel and were separated by the sheriff.

During the heated dispute Judge French called Blanton a liar and Blanton immediately sprang at French and had the sheriff not intervened would doubtless have struck him. Neither had a gun, so no damage was done.

Hops for Acquittal. The Hargis faction are moving everything towards an acquittal and hope to free both Jett and White from their present predicament. Soldiers are still closely guarding the prisoners and witnesses in the city.

HITCH OCCURS IN IRISH AUTO RACE

Cost of Policing the Course Causes Difference Between Club and Authorities.

London, June 17.—There is a hitch over the international automobile race in Ireland next month. The treasury department and the local authorities have refused to undertake to pay the cost of policing the course and the Automobile club, while willing to pay a portion of the expense, is disinclined to assume the responsibility for the entire cost.

SERBIA'S KING IS FIGUREHEAD

Military Dictators Will Be Real Rulers of the Country.

Belgrade, June 17.—The statue of the new king will be little more than that of a royal captive. The real government of the country will be a military dictatorship under the leaders of the revolution, Colonel Maschin and Colonel Mitschitch. The new king is almost without any personal adherents, and the ruling spirits of the army, it is thought probable, would just as readily murder him as they did his predecessor should he oppose their aims. At the present moment, the whole country is under military rule. This policy has led to one good result, not a single case of disorder anywhere has been reported.

CITY IS TO HANDLE GROCERIES

Kenosha, Wis., Plans Unique Experiment in Municipal Ownership.

Kenosha, Wis., June 17.—The city of Kenosha will try the most unique scheme in the history of municipal ownership under the terms of an order issued by the city council for the opening of a grocery store and butcher shop, to be under the entire control of the city. In these stores all the provisions needed for the paupers will be dealt out to them, the city saving all profits of middlemen. Ald. Peter Jacobs, who is the father of the plan, claims that the city will save hundreds of dollars annually by entering into the mercantile business.

BIG HAILSTONES KILL COWS

Storm Strikes Small Strip of Land Near New Haven, Ind.

Fort Wayne, Ind., June 17.—A hailstorm covering a strip of land a mile and a quarter in width passed over eastern Allen county for a distance of three miles and covering New Haven. In places the hail fell to a depth of two inches, and crops are ruined. Many cows were killed. Bert Whitney, a tramp from Bridgeport, Conn., was caught out in the storm and while running on the Wabash track seeking shelter was struck by a passenger train and killed.

DYING MAN KILLS ASSAILANT

Montana Politician Fights Trio After Being Fatally Shot.

Missoula, Mont., June 17.—Pat Donovan, a rancher and politician at Clinton, was shot and fatally wounded by three highwaymen. As he lay on the ground Donovan returned the fire, killing one robber and severely wounding another. The uninjured highwayman lifted the dead man to his saddle and, leading the horse of the third man, who was in the saddle, galloped off. Donovan cannot live.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR LABOR DAY

Committee Believes Money Enough Will Be Raised to Insure Celebration Here.

Brilliant success has attended the efforts of the committee who have been working to raise funds for a street labor day celebration in this city. The amount is not yet complete but the committee—Timothy J. McKeigue, Fred Smith, and Frank Eller—expect to report favorably to the Trades Council on the success of the undertaking. In addition to the speeches it is expected to erect half a dozen small stages at different places in the streets so as not to center the crowds and have vaudeville performers stationed at each one. At intervals the performers will shift from one stand to another.

TOO COOL FOR CORN; FIELDS TURNING YELLOW

Illinois Crop Bulletin Reports Ideal Weather for Performing Work on the Farm.

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—The crop bulletin for the week ended June 15 says:

The weather has been mostly clear and ideal conditions for field work have been obtained. Estimates received from Hancock county, southward to the Ohio bottoms, place the submerged area at 500,000 acres, comprised mostly of corn or wheat land. In most instances the losses are irretrievable. Wheat shows decided improvement in the central and northern districts. In the southern district harvest has begun with disappointing results. The yield in every instance is reported far below the average.

The weather has been too cool for corn and the plant has made but little growth, many fields turning yellow. While the crop is from ten days to two weeks backward and has suffered from adverse conditions, the general outlook is encouraging.

Oats in the central and northern districts continue to improve and the general condition is promising. Rye without exception is reported in a promising condition.

The mowing of clover was begun in the southern district. All grasses have made good growth and the outlook for a heavy hay crop is favorable.

Cherries are scarce. Peaches are a failure except in a few localities. Apples are dropping badly and the outlook points to a greatly reduced yield. Gardens are in bloom and promising.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

It is said that there is considerable sentiment in the east in favor of Adlai Stevenson as the democratic nominee for president.

Premier de Zell has announced his resignation in the Hungarian diet and that King Francis Joseph has accepted his resignation.

Finance Minister Rouvier in the French house of deputies, has proposed a graduated form of income tax, designed to throw more of the burden of taxation on the wealthy classes.

Conflicting reports have come from Colombia, but it is believed that the weight of opinion is against ratification of the canal treaty.

The Mexican government has broken all records in arbitrations by depositing $1,420,682 on account of the Plus fund award with Ambassador Clayton.

MARTIAL LAW AT HEPPNER

Oregon Troops Are Trying to Keep the Flooded District Peaceable and Quiet.

GHOULS LOOTING

Rob the Bodies of the Dead and Commit Many Other Outrageous Acts.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) Heppner, Ore., June 17.—Martial law prevails here while the work of rescuing the bodies continues. One hundred and fifty bodies have thus far been buried, more having been found last night and this morning.

Two Hundred Dead. Despite the earlier reports that the dead would number five hundred it is now thought that the total number will not be far from two hundred. New workers are at hand and are working with the parties already out.

Loot Bodies

Ghouls are looting the bodies of the dead. Aid arrived this morning at the Lexington end of the railway and were forwarded by team to the former site of Heppner.

Portland has been very generous.

Fifty Drown.

The greatest loss of life is reported at the Heppner hotel, which was swept away and about fifty guests were drowned.

A force of seventy-five men are digging graves on the hillside. Prompt measures are being taken to prevent a plague. The weather threatens to become hot, and a relief corps to clean the town is urgently needed.

Every available man from a radius of sixty-five miles has been pressed into service. Gangs of men are at work clearing away the debris, rocks and timbers which lie piled in heaps in Heppner's streets, and taking out the corpses which are thus concealed. About 100 persons have been buried in Heppner's graveyard. Owing to the absence of proper facilities for caring for the dead, the victims were for the most part interred in common crates.

People Become Frantic. J. J. Kelly, who has returned from the scene of the disaster, said:

"The storm was something fearful. It could be easily seen from the city. The people were gathered in their yards and on their porches to witness the display of the heavens."

"The rain was not falling in Heppner, but could be seen some distance away. Sharp flashes of lightning were accompanied by the howling thunder. Then, suddenly the thunder died away and left an ominous silence. Then a low, rumbling noise was heard, very faint at first, but growing louder. As the noise grew louder and louder the people became frantic."

Too Late to Escape.

"But in a moment the van of the flood burst into view around the curve of the creek, carrying on its crest the cabins and houses which stood in its path. The people made a rush to the hills, but were too late. The flood was upon them. The little river is ordinarily ten feet wide and six inches deep. In five minutes it was transformed into a roaring torrent 400 feet wide and twenty feet deep. Houses were lifted from foundations and carried on the swirling waters. Everything was swept before the rush of the flood. People were caught in their homes and forced to crawl out on the roof. Then as the houses moved down the stream they caught onto the trees and hung there until morning, when some of them were rescued."

"The depot was left standing, also two warehouses containing 2,500,000 pounds of wool."

ADMITS DEGREE WAS WORTHLESS

Rev. Charles Garnett Drops His Libel Suit Brought Against Harriman University.

London, June 17.—The hearing in the case of the Rev. Charles Garnett of Arundel Square Congregational church against the Christian World for alleged libel by that paper in stating that the clergyman's degree of doctor of divinity from the Harriman university of Tennessee was worthless was resumed this morning. The foreman of the jury announced at the outset that he and his colleagues were ready to render a verdict, and thereupon Mr. Robson, K. C. attorney for Garnett, intimated that his client did not desire to contest the case any further, as the evidence of Prof. Davies of Yale clearly showed the Harriman university had no standing and that his client recognized that the university was not justified in giving degrees. The Rev. Dr. Garnett withdrew his action, but upon the plea of the defendant, judgment was entered for the defense.

LETTER FROM THE FAR OFF LAND OF THE RISING SUN

HOW JAPAN APPEARS TO MR. AND MRS. HIBBARD.

THE VERY FUNNY SIGHTS

Everything is Strange and Queer, But
It is Interesting to Read

About.

Graphic descriptions of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Hibbard's home in Tokio, of curious Japanese customs and of Mr. Hibbard's introduction to the University Y. M. C. A. members are contained in the following letter written by Mr. Hibbard.

"This is the first time that I really had time to write since we left the steamer for although we have kept ourselves busy it has been uphill work getting things straightened out. At first it all seemed very strange to us but we feel much more at home here than in Chicago. Tokio is really a very fine place indeed.

"Our home is in Fugimicho (Fugimicho street, for we see Fugiyama from here in clear weather) Ni chone (second block) and roko hance (number thirty-nine). The yard is roughly triangular, with the longest leg to the east, the shortest to the south and the hypotenuse along the street to the northwest, another street nipping the point off the triangle point at the north. It is considerably larger than an ordinary town lot, nearly twice as large as an average village lot.

"There is, however, not a sprig of grass as that is altogether against the Japanese idea of a garden. They are excellent gardeners, however, as the whole city bears witness. There are a great many trees and shrubs in the yard, especially cherry trees, and some of the shrubs are in blossom. The whole is fenced in with a high fence, tight board on the street side and split bamboo on the other sides. Our neighbors are all Japanese but none of them are very close. The nearest building is just at the south, a godown or storehouse and is really a rather ornamental feature in our landscape.

"The drainage is all by open sewers in the streets but as they are very well kept and as there is running water in them all the time they are rarely offensive. Just a block to the south of us is a long avenue of stone lamps in a kind of long narrow park some four squares long and leading up to a Shinto temple memorial to the soldiers who died in the late revolution. Today as we passed there they were having some sort of review as there was two or three regiments of soldiers in line with full equipment. One sees a great many soldiers on the street here and they are rather formidable looking fellows too. The policemen stand stolid in the middle of the streets and appear serenely indifferent to the passing throng but are very courteous if you seek help from them open in the evening; the shopkeepers are very narrow and in the evening the shopkeepers spread out mats and low tables along the side, where they display their wares and incidentally still further contract the street. Often these things are trying to one's patience, especially when hurrying along on a wheel. Serious accidents are rare, however, unless one takes to scorching as there are very few horse vehicles and as a rule they move very slowly. The babies are the worst as they play in the street as soon as they are old enough to walk.

"Clothing is a matter of comfort and has nothing whatever to do with the proprieties. To be sure, the bakers hang up a rope screen in front of their shops to hide the garden of Eden effect within but too screens are about as effective as the rope guards they have across the railway tracks in the neighborhood of a low bridge.

"The other day we had the well cleaned and the process was as interesting as the result was satisfactory. Six men came and brought their paraphernalia with them. They first rigged a large pulley over the well, then hung a big bucket with a cable after the manner of a hay fork. This rope the men seized and ran across the yard to a kind of Indian war chant while one man tended the bucket at the well. This work got pretty warm after a while and they peeled down to the top half of a pair of pajamas. When they got the water out one of them went down the well in the bucket, cleaned out the bucket and the bottom of the well and incidentally took a bath as I learned when he came up and one of the men built a fire of shavings for him to dry himself out by in the yard.

"All our furniture is here now and last night we slept here for the first time. Yesterday we took tiffin here for the first time. Our cook is all right. He understands very little English but he knows his business and we give him free rein. This is very fortunate as it will enable Jean to give more attention to the study of the language than would be possible if she had to give close attention to household affairs. His wife is a very sweet little woman and promises to be a very satisfactory servant. They both seem very anxious to please.

"Kiku, or Okikusan with the proper honorific, has been lame for a few days and the cook has engaged a substitute even better than the original. She is the cutest bit of femininity that ever happened. She is about four feet and one-half high, bright as a dollar and sees all life as a huge joke. Voluntarily she appoints herself our Japanese instructor in things pertaining to the household but without anything of presumption in her conduct. When we go away they are all at the door with farewells and good wishes and when we return we sometimes find one out at the corner waiting for us and they all hasten out with their welcomes. They are far better than I ever dreamed that servants could be. Generations of feudalism have trained them to anticipate one's every wish and to be prompt in meeting it. "A funny thing happened to me the other day at our district post office. The post office here has a savings bank department as well as the money order department to which we are accustomed. When I saw a window labelled cashier I thought it a favorable opportunity to get a hundred yen banknote changed and presented the same at the window. While I was trying to make known my wishes my hand rested on the note in the window. Along came a man with a little red chip bearing some Chinese characters, poked it in the window and grabbed my bank note. I hung on and protested. It looked like a declaration of war for a minute but the fellow inside explained and gave the third party a ten yen note, which brought forth profuse apologies and considerable laughter. I finally had to give up getting the note changed though I think they understood what I wanted.

"The people are so cheerful and appear so well satisfied that I do not wonder that globe trotters often think that the missionaries are unnecessary nuisance. It is not their poverty which most leads one to feel that this superficial verdict is not the correct one but rather a consensus of all the things that one comes to notice more and more—the prevalence of skin diseases among children, the rapidity with which the women fade after maturity, the anxiety of the leading Japanese themselves, etc.

"The other day I made my debut at the University Y. M. C. A. The building is situated on the edge of a steep bluff looking westward and southward so that you see Fuji in the sunset. Closer by you look out onto a sea of roofs, tile covered and odd as any thing that one could well imagine. Just inside the door we came on some fifty pair of shoes, both the straw variety and the heavy wooden geta. Inside were gathered most of the baptized Christians of the university. The service was almost all in Japanese, though probably all understood English. I was introduced and spoke briefly in my stocking feet.

"Afterwards Jean and I were invited to stay and take tea with the boys who are living in the building. There are nearly thirty of them. The food was all Japanese and had to be eaten with chop sticks. It is very bad form to leave a single grain of rice in the dish and as the helping is liberal and I never was particularly fond of rice, my enjoyment of a Japanese meal is not so great as one might fancy it would be. Mr. Ishikawa, who acted as Mr. Mott's interpreter last fall, is a very gallant and entertaining gentleman and they are all as bright as can be. The city building is very largely used here and all the work of the association seems to be going on in a most satisfactory manner. Helm and Fisher are strong men and their team work is superb.

"About the most striking evidence of heathenism is the utter absence of anything corresponding to our American Sabbath. I do not refer merely to the straightened New England of times gone by but the present Sunday newspaper variety as well. Business goes on the same as any other day. Heavy two-wheeled carts, dragged by sweating coolies, toil slowly along the crowded streets and carpenter shops and stores are as busy as on other days of the week. Our servants seem to think it an interesting, harmless eccentricity that we will not have the carpenter, the electrician and the tinner here on Sunday as readily as on any other day."

BUNKER HILL DAY IS CELEBRATED

Veterans Go By the Score to Ho-No-He-Gah Park to Commemorate Anniversary.

Every interurban car this morning bore a party of enthusiastic members of the Grand Army of the Republic, their wives, and their friends. Their destination was Ho-No-He-Gah park, not many miles the other side of Beloit. The occasion which is being celebrated is "Bunker Hill Day." Invitations have been sent to every G. A. R. post within many miles, and acceptances were the general rule.

Good Time. The whole program was arranged for the day as arranged by the committee in charge was one that was bound to remind the old soldier and his wife and the sons of veterans in fact any one who has ever been a soldier or where they were was of army life. The day was divided into seventeen events. First came the customary flag salute at sunrise. There was old Glory on top of High pole and about it were the grizzled old veterans, the shrill notes of the fife and the rattle of the drum just as it was in the days of the rebellion only the men who listened were older and grayer.

Mess Call. Soup! Soup! Soup! Without a single bean, Porky! Porky! Porky! Without a streak of lean, Coffee! Coffee! Coffee!

The meanest ever seen. Beans, coffee and genuine army hardtack. Tin cups and tin plates. All the comforts of a camp with all you want to eat. Many had brought baskets, many more had bought their meal at the lunch counter but all enjoyed the sight of the huge platters of beans and the steaming cups of coffee. Truly the old song, The Army Bean, was never more appropriately sung.

No. 4, 5, 6, 7. These numbers included music by the drum corps at 1:30 o'clock and address by Mrs. Grinnell, of Beloit at 1:45. One gun and the singing of the male quartet from Beloit. Then Hon. M. G. Jeffris, of this city, gave his talk. It was not a sermon it was not dissertation but just a simple heart to heart talk by one of the younger generation to the veterans of the last civil war.

Entertainment. Col. Kimberly then sang the Wisconsin War Eagle's song and after that Lillian Bassett Marshall gave some very pleasing readings which caused much applause. Then came an informal dance for those who wished to and those who did not stood round and heard the old war horse of by gone days tell how they stormed Vicksburg or repelled the rebels at Gettysburg or marched with Sherman to the sea. One old Shiloh veteran told graphically how he lost his leg and just how it felt while another with an empty sleeve told of lying in trenches before Petersburg for for hours after he was shot.

Assembly Call. At 5 o'clock assembly will sound and then every soldier is supposed to fall in line, dress to the right. Eyes right. Count fours. Right by column and then march around the flag pole while the leader will start that old stand by Rally Round the Flag Boys. Everyone will join in.

Mess Call Again. At 6 more beans and more steaming hot coffee will be issued. Men and women will fall in line with sergeants first and privates last to receive their rations of coffee, their piece of hardtack and their mess of beans.

Sun Set Gun. 7:35 the sun set gun will sound. The drum corps will play America and the colors will come down from the tall pole to be stored away until another picnic day. Taps sounds at 10:30 and then every light must be out and all homeward bound.

COTTON BATTINGS ARE MADE HERE

Interesting Facts About this Industry
So Little Is Known
About.

One of the most interesting of Janesville's manufacturing plants is the Rock River Cotton Co., occupying a building that has nearly two acres of floor space, rooms well filled with thread making and other requisite machinery. It is indeed a great mill. The raw cotton is brought from many sections of the sunny south, some shipments are made from Texas and a large quantity is also purchased in Savannah. The raw material comes to the mill in large bales, weighing between five and six hundred pounds and the stuff is tightly pressed. The bales are broken open and armfuls of the fluffy cotton are thrown into big machines where the material is beaten and the fibres are pulled apart, from here it is blown into a second part of the apparatus where it is formed into a thin sheet and then rolled up. On an average, eight bales or over 4000 pounds of cotton are consumed every working day during the year. These first machines which the cotton goes through are called "lappers" and the mill has six of them. The Rock River Cotton Co. manufacture cotton batting and twine.

To make the batting these rolls of cotton are run through carding machines. In this department there are over twenty-seven of them, and from there on a moveable carrier the now finished batting goes to the packing department, where it is automatically rolled. The roll is then weighed, covered with a sheet of tissue paper and is ready for packing. There are several different grades of batting sold and the cotton for each particular grade comes from a certain set of carding machines. The highest grades of the batting being the whitest and the most uniform in substance. In this department about one hundred cases of batting are turned out daily.

The cotton that is to be made into twine is run through another set of carding machines and from these comes out in the form of loose yarn. Several of these yarns are run together through another machine and twisted, and then the same process is repeated and the cotton is wound on big spools. It has now become much finer. The machines which perform this operation are called "speeders," and five of them wind many thousands of spools in a day. These spools are next taken to another department where the "spinning frames" are located. Twelve of these frames occupy a large room. Their work is to further twist and wind on other spools the strands of cotton. The thread must go through each of these, and it comes then to the last machine which winds the string into the familiar ball. The people that have charge of this twine spinning apparatus become very skillful in handling the cotton and work extremely rapidly. The twine is put up for sale in different forms, in big rolls or cones of string weighing several pounds; in the loose form, called "carpet warp," this is made into bundles weighing five pounds. These latter are packed in barrels and in small bags. An ingenious apparatus is used to fill these little sacks which hold only a dozen balls of twine. By means of this machine many sacks can be filled per minute. About two thousand pounds of twine are manufactured daily.

The company have a large mattress department, turning out an average of twenty-five every day. To fill these they procure material from far off parts of the world. Hair is considered the best and they have all grades, a silk floss called "Kapok" that is made in Japan is thought to be the best material, then moss from Florida, cotton and cotton felt. Palm leaf is also used and this is brought from Africa, although it is also grown in the extreme south. Husks are put in a cheaper grade of mattresses. The extensive addition that the company has now nearly finished will be used as a bleachery and for store rooms.

FUNDS ARE IN VERY GOOD HANDS

Money Sent from Janesville for Suffering Jews Does Good Service.

The following dispatch published in the morning papers from Michael Davitt, the Chicago man who is now in Russia to aid the suffering Jews, refers indirectly to the forty odd dollars sent from Janesville for their help. It is good to hear that the sum has been of service to the sufferers from Russian greed and avarice and Mr. Davitt's statement assures all the contributors that their contributions will not be wasted.

The Dispatch. The committee in charge of the relief funds at Kishineff is thoroughly reliable and efficient. It is composed of the representative Jews of the city. The money received up to the date of my departure was expended for food, clothing and financial help to those whose homes were destroyed and for the assistance of the small shopkeepers whose premises had been looted. Some compensation had been given to others whose present means of livelihood has gone until confidence is restored and Jewish employers can return to the city and enable artisans and others to resume work.

"One hundred orphans of murdered persons are being provided for and fully 3,000 people who sought refuge at the hands of the committee each day while I attended its meetings were relieved. All money forwarded has been duly received and I would strongly plead for special help for the future of some fifty orphans. The rich Jews of London, Paris, Berlin and Vienna are not contributing much, owing to the exaggerated reports of the extent of American assistance in the continental press. Therefore, such aid as can be obtained should go direct to the committee at Kishineff to meet the pressing needs and general relief operations.

John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels. That portion of the theatre-going public partial to minstrel shows will hail with delight the announcement that John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels are to appear at the Myers Grand tonight. The pages of minstrel history are brimful of bright accomplishments essayed by venturesome Vogel; yet this, his greatest and best effort out-classes by far his previous records and proves to his admirers what untiring energy and originality can do.

As is usual with Vogel enterprises, the general make-up of the combination is above criticism. The vocal department is filled with familiar names and such well known favorites as Harry Leighton, Grant Merkle, Thos. Merrick, A. L. Cover, James R. Purvis, F. P. Keeney and the Cornation Octette comprise the singing contingent.

Among the comedians and specialists are, Arthur Rigby, the famous and original Lew Benedict, Chas. Gano, Crawford & Fleming, dispensers of musical comedy, Brobst Brothers, the dancing dandies, Don Gordon, Comely Trick Cyclist and Gregory, the world's greatest hoop roller.

The Silver band of twenty-five picked musicians and the grand double symphony orchestra of fifteen are under the direction of Prof. Jos. Norton, both very essential adjuncts to a clever minstrel performance.

CROP REPORTS SHOW A GAIN

Despite Frost of Last Week Everything Is Growing Very Nicely Now

In his review of the condition of the crops in Wisconsin during the last week, Section Director W. M. Wilson of the department of agriculture says: The most important feature of the crop situation for the last week was the frost which occurred Thursday and Friday mornings. Reports received from correspondents representing nearly every township in the state show that more or less damage occurred in nearly every locality. On high ground the frosts were light, but on low ground the temperature fell to and below the freezing point in many places and ice formed to the thickness of an eighth of an inch. In general the frosts were less severe along the eastern border of the state and in the extreme southern counties, the greatest damage to the crops occurring generally in the central counties. In the northern section most field crops were not sufficiently advanced to be liable to great damage although freezing temperatures occurred in exposed localities. Practically no rain occurred during the week, and, while crops are not suffering from lack of moisture, rain would be beneficial.

Winter wheat and rye continue to make rapid advancement towards maturity, and are generally considered in promising condition. Oats, barley, and spring wheat: The early part of the week was too cold for rapid growth, but the dry weather was beneficial to grain on lowland, where the improvement had been quite marked, especially during the last few days. The present condition of these crops is generally satisfactory.

Corn: There was more or less damage to corn by frost in exposed localities and considerable replanting will be necessary. In some localities, especially in parts of the central counties, the plants were frozen to the ground. It is not possible at present to estimate the acreage that will be replanted, as a total loss occurred only over limited areas, where the conditions were particularly favorable for frost.

Potatoes: Planting is now completed. The early plantings in many localities were injured to some extent by the frost, but the damage is not generally great.

LAW DECISIONS FOR LAYMEN

Recent Court Rulings That Will Interest the Busy Reader Very Much.

Divorce

The plaintiff and her husband were domiciled in New York. Plaintiff went to Massachusetts, acquired a bona fide domicile there and obtained a divorce there. The husband in New York was served with personal summons, but did not appear in the suit. Upon the husband's death the plaintiff brought an action in New York for dower in his lands situated in that state. Held, that the plaintiff cannot question the Massachusetts decree. The court considers the Massachusetts decree binding in New York, but justifies its decision on the ground that the plaintiff, who has invoked the jurisdiction of a foreign court, cannot later question the validity of its decree for lack of jurisdiction. 173 New York, 503.

Latitude

It was some time ago judicially determined that it is not reversible error for counsel to weep before the jury. In the recent Iowa case of State vs. Burns, 91 Northwestern Rep., 238, it is held not error that counsel in his endeavor to sway the feelings of the jury, "Within reasonable limits," said the court, "the language of counsel in argument is privileged, and he is permitted to express his own ideas in his own way, so long as they may be fairly considered relevant to the case which has been made. No lawyer has the right to misrepresent or misstate the testimony. On the other hand he is not required to forego all the embellishments of oratory, or to leave uncultivated the fertile field of fancy."

Contracts

Defendant sold his business and good will to plaintiff, and covenanted never again to engage in the same line of business in any part of the United States. The defendant broke his agreement, and the plaintiff began a suit to restrain a breach of the covenant. Held, that the covenant was valid and enforceable. This conclusion was reached, though the covenant was admitted in general to be in restraint of trade. The court assumes the premise that under the enlarged commercial conditions of the country the contract is reasonable, and this eliminates the question chiefly discussed in the cases on the subject. 120 Federal Rep. 415.

Municipal Corporations

In a recent Kentucky case it appeared that in the winter when the streets were covered with snow, men and boys were permitted to coast down one of the streets of a city to the great danger of pedestrians, without the intervention of the city authorities. While the plaintiff was crossing the street and exercising ordinary care for his own safety, he was run down by one of the coasters with a sled, and suffered injuries, for which he sued the city. Held, that a municipal corporation was not liable, for, in the exercise of its control over coasting on its streets, it was acting in a public capacity and represented the state. 73 Southwestern Rep. (Ky.) 327.

Negligence

The plaintiff's health had been greatly impaired by overexertion in putting out a fire started upon his premises by sparks from an engine belonging to defendant. Held, that the plaintiff may recover for the injuries he sustained to his health. 93 Northwestern Rep., 575.

An Old English Custom.

At Broughton, near Briggs, in Lincolnshire, England, some lands are held by the following tenure: Every year on Palm Sunday a person from Broughton enters the church porch at Calster having a green silk purse containing two shillings and a penny, tied up at the end of a cart whip, which he cracks three times in the porch and stays there until the second lesson begins. Then he enters the church and cracks the whip again, finally depositing the purse and contents.

Few German Theological Students.

The number of theological students in Germany has diminished gradually from 4,267 in 1830 to 2,149, or less than half, although the population has doubled since 1830. The insufficiency in the number of candidates for the ministry is discussed as a matter of exceeding gravity by German theologians.

And She Hadn't a Word to Say.

"Wasn't it disgraceful how every one sat with head erect and eyes looking forward while the minister said grace?" Thereupon when some one innocently asked the indignant maid how she happened to be so well posted about the behavior of the other diners, she hadn't a word to say.

Subterranean Observatories.

It is proposed in France to establish subterranean observatories by drilling miles into the earth with oil well machinery. In these the strata, temperature and gases at various depths would be studied.

Dunraven Sells American Property.

All the property of Lord Dunraven at Estes Park, Cal., including four summer hotels and 7,700 acres of ground, practically comprising the whole of this mountain resort, has been sold to an Eastern syndicate.

Many Deaths Due to Weather.

There are about 200 deaths yearly in England due to weather. One hundred and forty of these are due to cold and the rest to sunstroke and lightning.

The monument was built by the enlisted men of the Second United States Infantry, under the supervision of Major J. H. Bailey. The memorial is in the shape of a pyramid fifteen feet high, and mounted on the top is an old Spanish cannon surrounded by four modern shells. General Lawton was loved and respected by those who served under him, and the memorial is an expression of the regard in which he was held by the American soldiers.

It is said to be an ill wind that blows nobody good. The tremendous gales which raged recently did the inhabitants of some of the villages on the southern Baltic coast a very good turn, large quantities of amber being washed ashore by the waves. ARE YOU SATISFIED?

If Not, What Better Proof Can Janesville Residents Ask For?

This is the statement of a Janesville citizen.

The testimony of a neighbor. You can readily investigate it. The proof should convince you.

Mr. E. T. Fish, of 355 Ravine street, proprietor of the Fish Dry-Lino says: "When I was twenty years of age I fell injuring my back, and ever since that I was troubled more or less with a dull aching pain across the loins. It never laid me up but it was often painful and annoying. Of late years I have gone to a physician every six months and had my-if thoroughly examined under the impression that there might be something wrong with my kidneys. The diagnosis always resulting in the physician claiming these organs were sound, but as the pains existed when I happened to notice in our Janesville papers that Doan's Kidney Pills were guaranteed to cure just such troubles I procured a box at the People's Drug store and took them. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good preparation. My back has not ached since I used them. I have heard others speak very complimentary of them and if I did not know their merit and required such a medicine I would consider it a favor if some one suggested their use to me. For this reason I endorse them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

FACTS ABOUT SHODDY.

The purpose of H. R. 14,488 is to make it possible for the consumer to know what he is purchasing, by having the goods stamped so as to indicate whether it is all wool, or if not, then the percentage of shoddy or waste. There is no objection made to the use of cotton, waste, shoddy, mungo, etc., in the manufacture of textile fabrics, when the fact is made known to the consumer, and where fraud is not perpetrated by selling these mixtures as all-wool fabrics, which is practically the law governing the sale of oleomargarine.

There are several classes of shoddy. The worst, which constitutes the greater part used in America, is from the rotten, castoff rags of Europe, being in them all kinds and amounts of filth and disease. These are gathered by ragpickers from the slums and alleys and are sent to America by the shiploads, where they are purchased by a certain class of manufacturers, who, in order to take the curse off the name, term the stuff "reused wool fibre". To encourage such a fraud is simply putting the lousy rags of European paupers in competition with the sheep and wool growers of America, and robbing the American people who wear woolen garments by selling them the stuff under a misrepresentation.

To show the rapid increase in the use of shoddy in this country, it is only necessary to quote census figures. In 1860 the census showed that there were only thirty establishments, and the value of the product for that year was but little over $400,000. War created a large demand for woolen garments, and it is a well known fact that there was a large demand for shoddy in the manufacture of army blankets and clothing.

By the census of 1870 the number of establishments had increased to fifty-six, nearly 100 per cent., and the product had increased to a value of $1,768,592.

In 1880 the census showed the number of establishments to be seventy-three, and the value of the product $4,989,615. While the increase of factories was not so great, the increase of the product was as $1,700,000 to $4,900,000.

In 1890 the census showed ninety-four establishments, and a product valued at $9,208,011.

In 1900 there were 105 shoddy establishments using 34,489,524 pounds of imported shoddy which was increased to about 74,000,000 pounds by materials gathered in this country.

The total production of wool in the United States in the year 1900 amounted to 305,000,000 pounds in the grease, equal to about 107,000,000 pounds when scoured and ready for the manufacturer. The shoddy used during that year amounted to 74,000,000 pounds, and as each pound of shoddy represents, in the mill, three pounds of unscoured wool, it will readily be seen that it took the place of 222,000,000 pounds of American wool, or 72 per cent., of all the wool grown in the United States during that year. In other words, it took the place of the wool from 42,392,000 head of sheep which are owned in these United States.

AN IMPORTANT MEASURE.

The importance and value of a census of agriculture such as is contemplated by House bill 14643, may be seen from the following facts:

The live stock of the nation has a value of not less than $4,500,000,000. The animals killed on the farm each year and those sold for slaughter, together with the horses, mules and asses sold for use away from the farm, have a value of over $2,000,000,000.

000. The various animal products, such as wool, milk, butter, etc., including animals sold and slaughtered together with the crops raised, are worth each year more than $6,500,000,000. The prices for farm animals and for farm products of every kind are determined solely by the supply and the demand, and for years the commercial classes, and the farming population as well, have been asking for more complete and more accurate annual statistics relating to every phase of the live stock industry and to the most important staple crops. Exact statistics remove uncertainties from the trade, add to the farmers' receipts from sales, and aid in placing the whole business of dealing in live stock and farm products on a more secure business basis.

Hence the need of taking an agricultural census sufficiently often to give the Department of Agriculture a reliable basis on which to make its estimates. Evidence of this necessity is shown by comparing the estimates of the Department of Agriculture for 1899 with the returns for the same year secured by the census enumeration. In many states the acreage and the production of wheat and other grains were found by the census to be more than twice as great as the estimates of the Department of Agriculture. Many correspondingly large errors were disclosed also in the department estimates of the number and value of domestic animals. These facts show the unreliability of the department estimates after a period of 5 years, and emphasize the need of taking a census of agriculture at least twice each decade. Based upon a census taken every five years, those estimates can be made annually with only a small margin of error, and will thus fully meet the demands of the agricultural and business interests for accurate statistics.

The cost of a census of agriculture consists chiefly in the money paid the enumerators. This will not be far from 25 cents a farm for much or little information, or an aggregate expense of $1,200,000. The cost of tabulating by counties the facts relating to domestic animals would be approximately $200,000, and for the leading crops as much more. This includes the expense of checking up for the elimination of errors on the part of enumerators, a very important factor in the cost of every census. The total expense is less than one-tenth of one per cent of the annual value of the farm products of the country.

COMMENDABLE EFFORT.

Attention is called to two interesting articles on this page pertaining to the use of Shoddy, and the importance of a live stock census. This matter is prepared by the National Live Stock association and is issued by the secretary, Charles F. Martin, of Denver.

The association presented bills to the last congress and will renew their efforts in Washington next winter. Copies of these bills may be seen at the Gazette office, also blank petitions for signatures urging their passage at the next session of congress.

The measures are of interest not only to stock men, but to every man who wears woolen goods, and who has a desire to encourage American industries.

One of them provides for an agricultural census which shall show, the number of farms in the United States, and their acreage. A classified enumeration of live stock, and the acreage, quantity, and value of cotton, wheat, oats, rye, barley, buckwheat, hay, flax, rice and potatoes.

The other calls for federal inspection and taxation of mixed goods and the proper marking of the same.

The object of the latter bill is to brand shoddy goods. The bill provides that all manufacturers of mixed goods shall be required to mark them with a label which shall indicate plainly of what the goods are composed.

The movement is intended to protect the American sheep. The experience that followed the introduction of free trade during the last Cleveland administration, is still fresh in the public's mind.

The country was flooded with English shoddy and American wool was so much of a drug on the market that California shippers were compelled to pay freight in advance in order to secure shipment, the transportation charges frequently being more than the clip would bring. Sheep were a drug in the market.

The National Live Stock association is engaged in a good work, and should be encouraged.

Kansas City, Kansas, with a population of 60,000 is just across the river from Kansas City, Missouri, with a population four times as large. The former city is half depopulated on account of floods and outside help is needed.

Life in Kentucky is full of excitement. The Jett murder trial is progressing with chances about even that he will not be convicted. A reign of terror exists and important witnesses are in hiding.

When the post-office investigation is fully settled it will be found that it is simply another case of too much civil service reform. If there was ever a law that needed modifying, it is the much overestimated civil service law.

The governor's Milwaukee organ is still hammering away at the primary law. It is generally understood that this reform measure is up to the people for final settlement. The topic is too threadbare for a June discussion.

Sir Thomas Lipton has arrived with his fleet and will soon be ready for the contest. He has been so plucky in spite of repeated failure, that many Americans would be glad to see him win.

The hotel strike in Chicago proved a dismal failure. There is such a thing as too much enthusiasm, and unskilled labor seems to be troubled with too much organization.

PRESS COMMENT

Chicago Record-Herald: The French have occupied Figui, but we still have a firm grip on Oshkosh.

Marquette Eagle: The little sproutlets are now sprouting and one can soon eat something besides canned lobsters.

Madison Journal: Bishop Grafton of Fond du Lac keeps the newspapers talking incessantly about him. The meek and lowly business is a monotonous and uncongenial industry to certain types.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The statement that local savings deposits aggregate about $17,000,000 speaks eloquently for the condition of Milwaukee's working people. Business men as a rule invest their profits in other ways and that large sum may be said to belong exclusively to the wage earning classes. No better evidence of their prosperity could be asked.

Two Rivers Chronicle: Both democrats and republicans should nominate their candidates for United States senator at their convention next year, whether we are to have primary elections thereafter or not. If there is to be a fight for the senatorial nominations at the next republican state convention it will worry the greasers to decide where their greatest effort shall go—to the defeat of La Follette or re-elect Quaries.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The Wisconsin world's fair commission has now set about the appropriation for the St. Louis exposition in a systematic manner. The amount set aside by the legislature is not as large as many hoped it might be, and still there is enough to make a very creditable showing. Wisconsin is fortunate in the personnel of its commission so that the excellent results may be expected even though handicapped by an appropriation which is relatively small.

Milwaukee Free Press: The silly story that John Wilkes Booth, assassin of President Lincoln, escaped and went to Texas, where he has since lived, will do very well for a sensation for a day. Booth is said to have committed suicide last January, and to have been fully identified afterwards by many people who knew him forty years ago. When Booth was hunted down and killed by union soldiers on the Garrett plantation on April 25, 1865, he was identified by many people who knew him perfectly. And this was thirty-eight years ago.

Waukesha Freeman: There are undoubtedly very many republicans in Wisconsin who would much prefer that the factional divisions of the party might be done away with, and if they were properly organized and directed their wishes in the premises would be gratified. It so happens, however, that practically all of the men who aspire to direct politics in this state are affiliated with one or the other faction, and they preach day in and day out the doctrine that the man who does not take one side or the other is not of much account. This, too, much as it is to be regretted, is, so far as control in political affairs is concerned, the exact truth. To be a thorough going republican and stand by the general principles of the party and vote for its candidates counts for but little, unless backed by activity in defending one of the factions that contend for a policy or the control of patronage in the state. For these reasons the Freeman sees but little encouragement for the forces that are at work to harmonize differences.

SIX STUDENTS GIVE ESSAYS.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT THE STATE SCHOOL.

ORATIONS SHOW THOUGHT

Excellent Musical Numbers Add to Delight of the Program of the Evening.

Students and faculty of the State Institute for the Blind, alumni of the schools, and friends of the graduating scholars filled the gymnasium last evening. The occasion was the annual commencement exercises. Each of the six members of the graduating class presented an essay or an oration. In thought and composition their efforts were most gratifying to their instructors and friends. They were fully the equal in these respects of the commencement orations of a high school class.

Thoughtful Orations
Miss Winnifred Gilbert's subject was "Physical Training," that taken by Miss Emma Dentzine was "America's Daughters," and Miss Anna Hull, who also played a piano solo in effective style, spoke upon "Vocal Music." Oscar Simmons gave a "Discussion of Trades Unions," Frank Lemere argued that "Immigration Should Be Restricted," and Arthur Cory touched upon the "Negro Problem." These six speakers comprised the class of 1903.

To add to the interest of the program the school orchestra, a little girls' chorus, and a full chorus furnished music. Each of these organizations gave evidence of careful and conscientious preparation for their appearance. Walter Goetzinger played an organ solo—the March and Chorus from Tannhauser—with such a mastery of the instrument that he was forced to play a second number.

Diplomas Presented
In presenting diplomas to the six graduates of the school Supt. C. H. Showalter addressed the pupils who were about to leave the school, speaking to them of the need which they had of confidence in themselves, in the world, and in God.

Almost without exception the students have departed who will spend the vacation away from this city. A few are still left but they are going on every train. Many of the students left Monday and Tuesday.

An officer of the Michigan Central, in speaking of the Marquette changing its terminals in Chicago, said that his road was not interested, as both are simple tenants in the lake front station.

GIRL TAKEN FROM HINTON

LITTLE HAZEL PLACED IN CUSTODY OF MR. OSBORN.

BROTHER SAID TO BE BRUTE

Lass Declared to Suffer from Spinal Trouble—Had Done House Work.

To free the little girl from the abuse of her brother Judge Pilefield today granted a temporary order taking fourteen-year-old Hazel Hinton of Milton Junction from the care of her father and placing her in the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Osborn of that city. In three months the case will come up again in the municipal court, and it will then be determined whether the father shall again be permitted to take the child into his home.

One Girl at Home
For the present Hazel Hinton, seven years of age, will remain at home, no evidence having been shown that she was being so abused that she ought to be placed in another home.

Before the decision was made Dr. Gibson declared on the witness stand that Hazel Hinton ought not to be required to do the house work, including washing, for a family of four, as she has done since the death of her mother. He said that she is suffering from lateral curvature of the spine, requiring immediate medical care. Any manual labor would be harmful to her physical condition.

Brother Is Brute
In returning his decision Judge Pilefield stated that the father's neglect of the child did seem to have been intentional, but that the brother, Grant Hinton, who is a man twenty-six years of age, had been clearly shown by the testimony to be a brute and that the child ought not to be forced to live in the same house with him.

Proceedings in the matter had been instituted at the request of Poor Master Kenyon, who believed that both girls should be placed in more suitable homes.

Wiolet Case Adjourned
Anton Wiolet will not be tried on the charge of aiding his son, John Wiolet, who was recaptured yesterday, to escape from the law until the 25th of this month.

The case was called this morning by Supt. Hutton of the State Industrial School at Waubesa, whose testimony is desired, could not be present and on that account the hearing of Wiolet was adjourned.

Michael Hickey
The funeral of the late Michael Hickey was held this morning from St. Mary's church at nine-thirty; golden high mass by Rev. Father Goebel as celebrant. Rev. James McGlinn as deacon and Rev. Mullen as sub-deacon. The music of the requiem mass was sung by the choir and Mrs. C. E. Yates and C. N. Van Kirk beautifully rendered "Lead Kindly Light." Rev. Goebel preached a most comforting sermon. The pallbearers were George Cullen, Thomas Cullen, John Cullen, James Dee, Patrick, Lilla and Patrick Joyce. The interment was at Mt. Olivet cemetery. Many beautiful floral designs were sent by friends of the deceased.

COSTLY THRESHING OUTFIT
Has Been Purchased of Tarrant & Kemmerer by J. A. Austin.
J. A. Austin of the town of Johnston has made the purchase of a $3200 threshing outfit of the firm of Tarrant & Kemmerer of Janesville. This costly outfit is of the famous Advance Threshing Machine company's make of Battle Creek, Mich., and is the largest and most modern of its kind in Rock county. The engine is of 20-horse power and the separator 44 by 64. The world famous Sattley stacker is also included in the outfit as well as the Advance feeder. With little or no trouble this ponderous machine was taken overland from Janesville to Mr. Austin's farm. Mr. Austin may well feel proud of his Advance for no better machine was ever shipped into Rock county. Mr. Austin already has several contracts to fill this summer in all portions of the county.

DENY NEW DIVISION REPORT

Officials of Wisconsin Central Say Such Action Not Contemplated.
The report that the Wisconsin Central road has created a new division with headquarters at Manitowoc is denied at the general superintendent's office and it is stated that no reason for such action exists, as the present arrangements are ample to care for the traffic of the road on its line from Minneapolis. "The new division is news to me," said John P. Irving, chief clerk to Gen. Supt. E. F. Potter. "I have never heard that such action was contemplated and can see no reason why we should establish a new division as our present arrangements are satisfactory and ample to accommodate a large increase in trade."

FORTRESS AND CITY

QUEBEC THE QUAINTEST SPOT IN ALL AMERICA.

Foundations of the Old Place Date Back to 1608—A Bit of Medieval Europe, Perched upon a Frowning Rock—A Real Curiosity.

(Special Correspondence.) Three great cities of Canada East are Montreal, Quebec and we will say Ottawa, although it be just across the Ottawa river in Ontario. These three cities would be great anywhere in the world.

Montreal is of course the first and chief city of all Canada. It is most emphatically the largest in population, but it is great in other respects. It has a beautiful name. The city is situated on the island of Montreal, thirty miles long, ten miles wide; and rising up out of this level island is a very bold and rugged and even precipitous ledge of rock, tree covered—a noble mountain, with the name Mount Royal, or in the musical French, Mont Real.

It is a royal mount, and between this and the river is the great city, many of its residences and public buildings climbing far up the foothills, giving them a charming location. For example, McGill university and some of the hospitals. Here also along the base of the mountain are the magnificent homes, many of them.

You can walk by winding paths and stairs to the top, or you can ascend quickly in an elevated cable car—gravity and water—one car ascending, the other descending. The view is a commanding one! The city is before you, a panorama—public buildings, colleges, residences, manufactures, the tall church spires and the justly celebrated St. Lawrence river—and the Royal Victoria bridge—a mile and three quarters, with its approaches—one of the finest bridges in the world.

Churches—many and the best, but of native gray limestone—rather dark—but hard and durable. The general style is Gothic—with magnificent spires which rise out of their large, square, solid bases with majestic grace far up with the sunlight, high over all. It costs money, but there is nothing in architecture so grand and graceful as the Gothic church spire. The Catholic, the Anglican and the Protestant, all have noble church buildings here.

Of the 350,000 inhabitants from three-fifths to three-quarters are French and speak that tongue. The business and the enterprise, and the largest and best stores are English-speaking, but everyone speaks French, or speaks at it.

St. Peter's of Rome—a smaller one. Citizens will tell you it is one-seventh, one-third of the size of the great Basilica.

But you must always look out for the citizens! The man at home often knows the least about the sights of his own town. I succeeded by going down into the basement—in unearthing the janitor, and through him—an old yellow descriptive circular in French giving all the dimensions of the building. It is one-half of the length; one-half the width, one-half the height—and, therefore, just one-eighth the size of St. Peter's in Rome! But it is a noble building and is built on the general plan of St. Peter's and looks very much like it in miniature.

Quebec is a great city. Not so great in its population, but quite wonderful in every other aspect. It has foundations which go back to 1608, and many of its French houses are anywhere from 150 to 200 years old. Every foot is historic, and thrillingly so—of primeval Indian, French, English and American history. It is great in all that French history in the opening up and early settlement of the St. Lawrence country; it is great in the days of Montcalm, Wolfe! Great in its battles and great sieges! It has been a battleground for a century or more; its very location was a defiance to any invader! Its rocky, rugged cliffs proclaimed its strength—and far down the spreading stream and to the distant hills beyond hung out the challenge to any and to every enemy that he would be resisted and fought every inch of his advance if he came for war.

Quebec was a frowning fortress; impregnable in the early days of war. Its heights were scaled, 'tis true, but that by stealth, and not by storm. Ehrenbreitstein, the Gibraltar of the Rhine—an unassailable sheer ledge of rock—seems to me no stronger than this strong old fortress citadel on the heights above the river. It was a natural fortress, impregnable as besting cliff.

Quebec is great in its French life—an old world city—narrow streets—buildings in the dear old French antique; steep roofs; dormer windows—great, wide chimneys many fluted, built right up into the end walls of the houses—far above the gable and the roof; and all of heavy, massive stone walls—with deep door jams and window sills to resist the winter's cold; walls too thick for frost—to too thick for years of waste and wear that crumble the flatter homes of to-day—but which only tested and yellowed and ripened these old walls—which stood long ago around the hearthstones and the blazing fires of those who trusted them for shelter and for refuge 200 years ago! Old walls of age and stone—of calm and storm; of winter blast and summer song, what struggle and what bloody death—what wild daring—what mad assault, what victory lost but won again, torn from the rocky ledge; what tales thy stones could tell of Indian tragedy and French romance; what love in death; what battle shouts of siege and song!

But the great guardian of the city was the stern old citadel. This commands the city and the river—a fortress built many years ago and costing millions of pounds. The one unique thing about Quebec is the great Dufferin terrace, named after that distinguished governor general.

What is the Dufferin terrace? It is a massive wall, forty to fifty feet, built up on the steep side of the ledge, and on this wall is a magnificent promenade; you look down upon this sheer ledge, 150 to 200 feet below on the old French houses, and off upon the majestic St. Lawrence, miles away in either direction, up or down the stream, while across the river far removed are the Laurentian mountains of geologic centuries, snow-covered in the winter, waving their banners of green in the summer. This terraced promenade extends fully a mile or more around and in front of the upper city and the citadel. It is one of the most spacious promenades in the world, with room for thousands, and room for all, more spacious even than the grand piazza of Venice.

At the city end of this great terrace, and high on the very crest of the rock, is an ideal location for a hotel, and here there is a hotel indeed! The Chateau Frontenac! I have seen photos of it, and read descriptions, but the location must be seen. It is grand. The building itself is an architectural charm—circular, or rather oval shaped—with a great central open court, full of sunlight and of green, but from the outside rooms, on the terrace overlooking the old French house far beneath, and the majestic St. Lawrence alive with many steamers coming and going, and the country miles beyond the river, make a view almost unparalleled in this country.

The Chateau Frontenac on the heights of Quebec! Historic, picturesque, grand! Henry Ward Beecher said: "Curious old Quebec! Of all cities on the continent of America, the quaintest. It is a populated cliff. It is a mighty rock scraped and graded. Here is a small bit of medieval Europe, perched upon a rock, a curiosity that has not its equal in its kind on this side of the ocean."

IN THE RIGHT QUANTITY.

Horseman's Idea of the Measurements of Horses and Whisky.

Sam Browne, the Kentucky horseman who died recently, used to tell a story about a foreman at his Blue Grass stock farm. The foreman loved horses and whisky and he was so attentive to each that it was impossible to determine which occupied first place in his affections. He went on record one day, however. A group of stablemen were discussing the size of some nags when one asked:

"Why are horses measured by hands?"

"I don't know," replied the foreman; "but it's all wrong. Horses should be measured by fingers and whisky by hands."—New York Times.

Longfellow and Holmes.

J. T. Trowbridge, in the course of his reminiscences in the Atlantic Monthly, tells this story of Oliver Wendell Holmes and Longfellow: "One afternoon, in the years of which I am writing, I chanced to call upon Mr. Longfellow just after he had received a visit from Dr. Holmes. 'What a delightful man he is,' said he. 'But he has left me, as he generally does, with a headache.' When I inquired the cause he replied: 'The movement of his mind is so much more rapid than mine that I often find it difficult to follow him, and if I keep up the strain for a length of time a headache is the penalty.'"

Aged Man a Lady-Killer.

James A. Curran, an aged capitalist of Hamilton, Mont., has been sued for $50,000 damages for alienating the affections of the wife of John Hay. Sixty witnesses have been summoned to testify in the case.

NOT MEANT FOR HIS EARS.

Humorous Request Made by Over-Cautious Lover.

"The janitor in the flats where I board can neither read nor write, and is in love with a girl who lives in Mt. Clemens," said a Detroit capitalist yesterday. "He recently induced me to become his secretary, by extending certain favors which can only be extended by a janitor of a flat, and so for some time I have been writing his letters to his sweetheart and reading her replies to him."

"The other evening a peculiarly tender letter came from Mt. Clemens and I started reading it. When I got to some very gushing expressions my janitor friend stopped me and asked: 'Say, can't you put a little cotton in your ears? I don't think Bridget would like to have you hear them things.'—Detroit News.

Chicago's Centennial Celebration.

The Chicago & North-Western R'y announces that much interest is being evinced throughout the west in Chicago's celebration of the 100th anniversary of that city's settlement in 1837. The celebration will take place from September 26th to October 1st, next, with a program that includes a series of commemorative events that possess many special features of interest. A great naval display will be a part of the program, together with regattas and the spectacular arrival in canoes, by way of the lake, of 400 Indians, the descendants of tribes formerly occupying this site, who will establish a village around a reproduction of old Fort Dearborn, on the lake front.

Athletic contests, parades, great fireworks displays, patriotic meetings and religious services, a grand chorus, military maneuvers by government troops, and on the concluding day a reception to the president of the United States and other distinguished guests, all contribute to a most elaborate program. Every energy is being employed to make the occasion typical of that spirit that has made Chicago one of the greatest cities in the world.

Grip

Brought On Sciatic Rheumatism.

Nervous Prostration Followed.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Gave Back Health.

"I was laid up during the winter of '92-93 with sciatic rheumatism and nervous prostration brought on by a severe attack of La Grippe. The rheumatic pains were so severe at times that it was impossible for me to turn in bed. I was unable to sleep. I had two of our best physicians in attendance, took all the advertised remedies for troubles of this kind but got no help whatever until I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve Gave. Six bottles restored me to health; I am better than for years; in fact am entirely relieved. I can say with a clear conscience that it was Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve that restored me to health. When the pains of sciatic and rheumatism were most severe I secured almost immediate relief by the use of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. I have recommended Dr. Miles' Remedies to many people."—Fred Myers, Redfield, S. D.

"I was taken with pain in my heart and under the left shoulder; with such heavy oppressed feeling in my chest that I could hardly breathe. I had palpitation so bad that my heart would throb so that it would shake my whole bed. I also had a weak, all-gone feeling in the region of my heart. My doctor treated me for liver and stomach trouble but I failed to receive any benefit until a friend recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Restorative Nerve. I used both and one box of the Anti-Pain Pills. I became in a complete and permanent cure."—Mrs. J. W. Golding, Noblesville, Ind.

BAER AGREES WITH MINERS

WORKERS ARE CONSERVATIVE

Hold Separate Conventions to Select Men to Represent Them on the Joint Board, Thus Avoiding Objection on the Part of Mine Owners.

Scranton, Pa., June 17.—There will be no strike in the anthracite region because of the refusal of the operators to recognize the credentials of District Presidents Nicholls, Fahy and Dettrey, selected by the joint executive board of the United Mine Workers as the miners' representatives on the board of conciliation. The convention of the mine workers elected the three district presidents by districts as their representatives and the operators through President George F. Baer of the Reading company announced that this action was satisfactory to them.

Applaud Decision.
President Mitchell and Charles P. Neill, the latter a peace envoy sent by members of the strike commission, are mainly responsible for the action. There was a burst of loud and long applause when President Mitchell announced that the operators through President Baer had authorized the statement that the action of the convention was satisfactory. Mr. Mitchell communicated with President Baer through Mr. Connell and Mr. Neill. The convention elected President Mitchell as the legal representative of the miners at the hearings before the conciliation board.

Mitchell Reads Report.
President Mitchell read the report of the committee on resolutions providing for the election of conciliators by separate district conventions. The resolutions call attention to the refusal of the anthracite coal operators to recognize the members of the board of conciliation selected by the executive boards of the United Mine Workers of three anthracite districts; that such selection was in accordance with the award of the anthracite coal strike commission.

Removes Objections.
The resolutions declare that, though satisfied with the manner of the selection of the representatives, it is decided to remove any possibility of misunderstanding concerning the legality of appointment by having this convention of accredited representatives of the three districts of United Mine Workers give "unqualified indorsement to the action of the executive officers in appointing Messrs. Nicholls, Dettrey and Fahy to represent us on the joint board of conciliation, and we hereby authorize them to act as our representatives in the adjudication of all disputes growing out of the interpretation or application of the award of the anthracite coal strike commission and in any other way growing out of the relations of the employers and employed."

Elect Conciliators.
The report was adopted unanimously, but with no show of enthusiasm. President Mitchell then announced that the three districts would next vote separately on the selection of representatives on the board of conciliation. While the delegates of one district were voting, he explained, those of the other two districts would remain silent.

Action Is Indorsed.
With a rising vote the convention as a whole indorsed the action of the districts. "It is unanimous," declared President Mitchell. The convention authorized its chairman and secretary to issue credentials to the conciliators.

President Mitchell read a resolution directing that all grievances submitted to the committee on resolutions be turned over to the conciliators. The resolution was adopted.

Expect an Increase.
In answer to an inquiry by one of the delegates President Mitchell said no increase in wages had been forthcoming for May under the provisions of the sliding scale because the "average price" of coal had not advanced to $4.55, although the circular price was $4.60. He had seen the figures and presumed they were correct. The average price had only gone up to $4.52. The June price, he thought, would reach $4.62 and the miners would get a 2 per cent increase.

Cleveland, O., June 17.—The war in passenger rates between Detroit and Cleveland, which has been looked for ever since the Barry Brothers came from Chicago a month ago and entered the field in opposition to the Detroit and Cleveland line, is now on. The Barrys have cut the rate of $2 in half. As soon as this cut was announced the People's Popular Price line put the rate at 25 cents each way. The war promises to run on to the bitter end.

SOCIALISTS GAIN GREAT VICTORY

HAVE GAINED TWELVE SEATS

Forty-nine Members of Their Party Will Take Part in the Deliberations of the Reichstag—Many Second Elections Are Made Necessary.

Berlin, June 17.—The Socialists won a great victory at the general elections held throughout the empire. They have probably increased their representation in the reichstag by at least fifteen seats and their total vote by 400,000 over that of 1896, bringing it up to 2,500,000. Herr Debel claims it will not fall short of 3,000,000. It is known that they have gained twelve seats and lost two. At least five other seats will probably be added to their gains when the full returns are in. All the parties concede the success of the Socialists, the gains having been made at the expense of all other parties.

Where Gains Were Made.
The Socialists gained one seat in Berlin and 63,000 votes, seats in Dresden, Solingen, Pirmas, Planen, Zittau, Dueseln, Altenburg, Darmstadt, Limbach, Schwartzberg, Heidefeld, Balreuth and Bremen. They lost seats in Sorau and Bismarck. The Socialists gains in Saxony caused Herr Debel to call Saxony "the red kingdom."

The most pronounced Socialist success was in Essen, Krupp's town, where the Socialists increased their vote from 4,400 to 22,705. The center-left party also increased its vote there from 20,103 to 35,564.

Second Elections.
The Richter wing of the radicals seems to have suffered most, having lost eight members, or nearly a third of its whole representation. The Barth wing of the radicals lost three members, and the Nationalists and Conservatives have lost Saxony. Herr Richter, sometimes called the "Mirabeau of the house," will probably have to submit to a second contest, as he has only a plurality and not a majority as the law requires. Herr Barth, Prof. Mommsen and Herr Bismarck must also try a second time. The position of the parties based on the returns from 235 districts give: Total members elected, 117; requiring second election, 118. The elected are: Socialists, 49; Centrists, 35; Conservatives, 11; Alsatians, 6; National liberals, 5; Free conservatives, 4; Independents, 3; Poles, 2; Danes, 1; Agrarian league, 1.

In the foregoing districts the socialists have gained 12 seats and lost 2.

Women Are Active.
An extraordinary feature of the polling in Berlin was the part taken by socialist women. Hundreds went from house to house bringing out laggard voters, waiting at the exits of factories and mills and accompanying the indifferent electors to the polls. While the other parties had paid workers, the socialists employed 7,000 canvassers who were unpaid and alone of all the parties they voted their full strength. They had bought up space on the municipal advertising pillars and placarded doors and windows with party legends. Fifty thousand copies of a poem entitled "Vote red" were circulated. At the most aristocratic balloting place, opposite the residence of the imperial chancellor, were socialist watchers and ticket distributors smartly dressed in frock coats and silk hats.

Ministers Are Defeated.
Copenhagen, June 17.—In the general election of members of the folketing, the lower house of the Danish parliament, Herr Hage, the finance minister, was defeated by a social democrat named Schmidt and War Minister Madsen was also defeated at Randers. The premier and the ministers of public worship, interior, agriculture and justice, however, were re-elected with large majorities.

The final results of the polling show: Left reformists, 74 seats; social democrats, 16 seats; members of the right, 12 seats, and moderate members of the left, 11 seats.

COURT FORBIDS A STREET FAIR

Citizens of Streator, Ill., Secure a Restraining Injunction.

Streator, Ill., June 17.—A unique injunction was issued in the Circuit court of La Salle county prohibiting the proposed street fair advertised by the Order of Red Men of Streator for the week of June 23-July 4. Prominent citizens declare in their bill that the affair would be a nuisance, and deny the right of the mayor and council to surrender the streets of the city for such a purpose. Owing to the fact that street fairs have become numerous in Illinois cities during the last few years the contest will attract wide interest. The injunction probably will be fought in the courts.

DR. LINDLEY SAYS:
"Every sufferer from any form of the hydra-headed disease known as rheumatism should read every word of this advertisement, because it proves how rheumatism—all kinds of rheumatism—can be CURED, not just lulled to sleep to be awakened to renewed activity by weather variations, but actually driven out of the body so as to be no more a part of it."

The antidote is Dr. Lindley's Golden Rheumatism Cure. It is guaranteed to cure 90 cases out of every 100. Read what Golden Rheumatism Cure did for Mr. Avery:
"When I began to use the Golden Rheumatism Cure I had little faith in it to remove the terrible suffering from my knees, ankles and feet, from which I had suffered more than two years. Indeed, the first bottle did little more than relieve the pain a little. I then began using the Rheumatism Cure and Golden Kidney Cure in alternate doses. This reached the trouble at once and I began getting better; the pain and stiffness left my joints, the enlargements went down and I was soon on my feet and at my business, and I have not felt a pain since." Frank T. Avery, North Vernon, Ind.

Golden Rheumatism Cure is sold by druggists generally for 25 cents a bottle. In many cases of chronic rheumatism the kidneys need aid to rid the system of uric acid, for this purpose use Dr. Lindley's Golden Kidney Cure, price 25 cents, in connection with Golden Rheumatism Cure.

THE AMERICAN OF THE FUTURE—What Will He Be?

The Immigrants Now Pouring Into the Country May Change Our National Characteristics

It is estimated that the number of immigrants arriving on our shores the present year will surpass the record of any previous year. Government figures put the number at $60,000. Not only is the size of the immigrant horde attracting attention, but also the fact that a great change is observable in the peoples now flocking into the United States. Whereas our immigrants used to come from Germany, Great Britain and Scandinavia, the invaders of these early days of the twentieth century are coming chiefly from Italy, Russia and Austro-Hungary. Which change, at least at first glance, would seem of doubtful benefit to the nation.

The Germans, British and Scandinavians we have found most helpful in developing the country; they have proved themselves good, hardy, substantial citizens, readily assimilating with out conditions and with ourselves. But these queer, little, dark Italians; these driven, pauper Jews, what can we do with them. What will they do to us? Time alone can answer this question.

People generally regard with suspicion the personnel of the latest immigrants, but the ethnologist, the student of races, looks more hopefully upon the question than does the layman. Two authorities—Franklin H. Giddings, professor of sociology at Columbia university, and Gustave Meind, the ethnologist—give (in a send us 70,000; Austro-Hungary, 25,000; Roumania, 12,500.

Most of the Italians now flocking here come from southern Italy and the island of Sicily. As a rule, they do not bring their women with them, which would lead one to the surmise that they are coming over only for a temporary residence; that after they have picked up the proverbial gold in our streets they will return to the girls they left behind. The proportion of men to women among the Italian immigrants is four to one.

The women immigrants among the Irish outnumber the men; in the nine months from June, 1902, to March, 1903, inclusive, the number of Irish women coming to this country was 9,745, and the number of men 7,185. With the exception of Italy, Ireland and Japan, the different nations sending us immigrants usually send about half as many women as men. The ratio of Japanese men to Japanese women arrivals is about that of the Italians, four to one.

There is a very markedly noticeable increase in the number of Japanese immigrants, and in 1903 the Japs will constitute quite two per cent. of the immigrants to the United States for that year. In the aforementioned period, from June, 1902, to March, 1903, only two per cent. of the immigrants came from England, and only four per cent. from Ireland; the Germans got down to eight per cent., and also the Scandinavians;

TO RAISE CATTLE QUARANTINE

Secretary Wilson Believes Foot and Mouth Disease Stamped Out.

Washington, June 17.—The secretary of agriculture, having completed a careful investigation of the states now in quarantine for foot and mouth disease, without finding any cases of the disease, has issued the following:

"A reward of $250 will be paid to any person who shall, before June 30, 1903, first report to the chief of the bureau of animal industry, Washington, D. C., the existence of any specific case or cases of foot and mouth disease (epizootic apthra), in any animal or animals in either Massachusetts or New Hampshire. The nature of the disease must be confirmed by the inspectors of the agricultural department."

If no cases are reported by July 1 the quarantine will be removed and foreign countries asked to receive live stock from New England ports, as it is believed the disease has been eradicated.

COMBINE TO FIGHT STRIKERS

David M. Parry Discusses Objects of Proposed Insurance Company.

Indianapolis, June 17.—David M. Parry, president of the National Manufacturers' Association, commenting on the proposed organization of a company to insure employers of labor against strikes, said the company would undoubtedly be formed. He said that it would necessarily be a mutual company and that the membership would be kept secret, only the officers being known. "Organized labor will never know," he said, "when it orders a strike whether it is really fighting combined capital or merely making an onslaught on one individual. The object of the company will be to protect its policy holders from losses resulting from strikes and also to protect independent workmen. The company will have a legal department and will prosecute any man who attempts any coercion or commits any violation of law."

Bort's Chances Good: F. P. Starr received a letter today from Indianapolis saying that in the caucus of states held last evening A. N. Bort was given the plurality of supporters for head banker of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Boys in Fire Department: Dressed as though bound for a summer's outing, the Lake Geneva fire department attracted much attention today as they stopped in the city on the way to the state tournament at Fort Atkinson. Not one in the bunch was over twenty years of age, but it is said their chances for grabbing a few prizes are good.

IMMIGRANTS LANDING AT NEW YORK.

recent number of the Century Magazine) their reasons for considering this new influx by no means wholly undesirable.

They acknowledge that the new immigrants are shabby and ignorant, but affirm that the ignorance is due to lack of education and not to lack of intelligence; and that the children of these immigrants, our future Americans, need not be handicapped by their parents' lack of opportunity. Give them the benefit of the education offered in the United States to one and all, and they may add to, not be a drag on, our progress. Mr. Meind tells us we need the artistic temperament of the "Mediterranean race"—our Italian friends—and that the "Alpine race"—the Russians and Austro-Hungarians—that are pouring into our country will influence us for good; in the matter of stronger family ties, family affection being a marked characteristic of these people; in more simplicity of life, these folk not being given to a mad pursuit of wealth nor a lavish display of it—to both of which the American of today is supposed to be prone. Which encouragement, coming from such a worthy source, should lessen the fears engendered by a survey of our immigration statistics.

But the ethnologist agrees that the presence in our midst of these many Italians, Russians and Austro-Hungarians will result in some disadvantages. Disadvantages both physical and mental. We shall decrease in stature, the average height of the Alpine and Mediterranean races being below that of the world's other race, the Baltic, from which formerly the mass of our immigrants was drawn. And perhaps there will be a conspicuous decline of that enterprising spirit which has been called American push.

The coming in of the great crowd of Jews—they constitute 14 per cent. of the immigrants now entering the United States—seems perhaps the most problematic part of this question; for they are supposed to abhor and avoid all agricultural work, and therefore add to the congested population of our cities. In this matter the east is more troubled than the west, for the following is the local distribution of the Jewish invaders, according to government figures: 70 per cent. become residents of New York, nine per cent. settle in Pennsylvania, seven per cent. in Massachusetts, three per cent. in Illinois, three per cent. in New Jersey, two per cent. in Maryland and one per cent. in Ohio.

It is estimated that during 1903 more than twice as many Hebrews as are now in the Holy Land will land at New York, the majority of them paupers. Persecutions in the lands they have left, it is declared, are carried on with the cold-blooded purpose of ridding those lands of the Jews. Russia will Magyars were four per cent.; Croats, Slovaks and Slovenians together, 11 per cent.; and the Italians, with 23 per cent., were far ahead of all other nationalities.

Several factors are at work in attracting these hundreds of thousands of people to our shores; persecutions at home; noise of our great prosperity; and the zeal and unscrupulousness of transportation agents. The fortune-seekers from the first find their adventure fraught with hardships; it is said the cattle on the ships are treated better than they, for the former are given light and air, while the latter are crowded in the dark and noisome depths of the vessels.

By no means all of the estimated $60,000 immigrants of 1903 will be of questionable desirability. There will be about 7,000 professional workers, 125,000 skilled workmen and 240,000 common laborers; 50,000 farmers and farm laborers, and 96,000 domestic servants. Something like 125,000 (women and children included in this number), who will have no occupation. As the $60,000 rule, the Japanese that enter the country are reported desirable and intelligent.

To-day there are about 10,000,000 foreign-born people in the United States—truly a formidable army. New York has 37 per cent. foreign born among her inhabitants, and in Chicago's population there are 37 per cent. aliens. In Philadelphia, 23 per cent. are aliens; in Boston, 35 per cent.; St. Louis, 19 per cent.; Providence, 32 per cent.; Pittsburgh, 27 per cent.; Detroit, 33 per cent.; and Cincinnati, 17 per cent.

A hundred years hence where will be the "New Englander" and the "Virginian"? Will the American of that day know nothing of Plymouth Rock or of the Cavaliers? Will he be ignorant, consciously, of the ancestors that came over to America as steerage passengers?

Japan's Civilization.
It has not taken Japan long to get into the ways of civilization. Less than five years ago the consular courts, such as the civilized nations maintain for the protection of their citizens in semi-civilized countries, were abolished in Japan. This summer an international exposition is in progress in Osaka, with exhibits from various occidental nations, and a surprisingly large display of Japanese products manufactured in the modern way. There has been no greater marvel in the industrial and political history of the world than the conversion of the mikado's empire from the standards of Asiatic stagnation to western life. There are people who believe that when China awakes the world will see a still greater marvel.—Youth's Companion.
